Week #: 8 (19-23 Oct)

Subject: Theatre Unit Title: 1: Using Improvisation to Create "Who, What, When, Where, Why"

Grade: 6

Lessons	Learning targets	Assessment tools and strategies Formative/ Summative/ Differentiation	Resources and links for Parents
Lesson 1 Who is My Character?	I can create a character with clear traits, background, and motivations. I can use voice, body, and imagination to bring my character to life.	Formative: Teacher observation of role play. Student worksheet on character identity.
Homework
Teacher's notes/ Reminders	Encourage risk-taking and creativity. Focus on identity, not performance polish. Remind students to respect each other's ideas in improv.

Week #

Technology Integration	Students record short character introductions on tablets/phones.
Cross-curricular links	Language Arts: Creative writing (character backstories). Social Studies: Explore how culture influences identity.

External Assessment Integration	Builds improvisation and role-play skills that link to future performance assessments and speaking/listening standards.
Wellbeing/ ATL Skills	Self-awareness: Understanding identity through role play. Collaboration: Working respectfully in groups. Confidence building: Speaking/performing in front of peers.
Standards	Standard 1: Create – Develop characters through role play. Standard 2: Perform – Demonstrate character choices using body, voice, and imagination. Standard 3: Critically Respond – Reflect on character development and peer performance.
Inquiry/ TOK Question	How does playing a role help us understand our own and others' identities?
Success Criteria (Measurable)	Success Criteria MUST (All): • Identify and describe my character's traits, background, and motivation. SHOULD (Most): • Use voice, body language, facial expressions, and movement to clearly communicate my character. COULD (Some): • Use imagination and improvisation to make my character believable, consistent, and engaging in a scene.
National Identity Domain	Students can create characters inspired by Emirati culture, values, or everyday life (e.g., a fisherman, a shopkeeper, a student, a teacher).